what are these groups?

These weekly drop-in sessions are for patients and carers who are living with an advanced or terminal illness, who would like to find out more about the services which Phyllis Tuckwell offers. Healthcare professionals are also welcome, as is anyone who has not been referred to Phyllis Tuckwell, but would like to find out more about our care.

what are the benefits?

Access to information about our services and advice on a particular area of support, in a welcoming and informal environment which will help calm any fears about referral to our care.

what happens in these sessions?

Staff and volunteers will be on hand to welcome attendees and show you around the Hospice Dove Lounge or Beacon Centre Day Room. A folder, containing information about the different services and therapies which we offer, will be available for you to take away with you, along with additional leaflets and booklets about coping with serious illness, facing death and bereavement. You can also request a tour of the Hospice or Beacon Centre.

is transport to the venue available?

Anyone who would like to come to one of these sessions would need to make their own way to the venue.

do I need to wear or bring anything special?

You don't need to bring anything, just yourself and any questions you may have.

when are the groups held?

Groups are held weekly on a Tuesday afternoon from 2-4pm at the Hospice in Farnham, and on a Monday morning from 10am-12pm at the Beacon Centre in Guildford.

do I have to pay for services from Phyllis Tuckwell?

No, all services offered by Phyllis Tuckwell are free. As a charity we are dependent on the local community for their generosity and financial support. We only receive 20% of our funding from the NHS/Government and therefore we have to raise over £20,000 a day to provide all our services. If you would like to make a donation, they can ask a member of staff, or visit our website.
